Harvester Takes Seattle On A Culinary Journey

The chef at Harvester has sourced only the best local ingredients around Seattle, WA. Our restaurant thrives on creating carefully curated dishes every season.

Seasonally Expressive Menus

In the fall, you can expect many soups. The winter brings heartier dishes with excellent proteins. The spring allows us to create wonderfully bright salads, and our summer menu is presented with many grilled options. Our team of professional chefs are also talented enough to work around any issues you may have with the menu based on your allergies or dietary restrictions. Each plate is a new adventure and a chance for us to flex our creative skills. Have a great night with us no matter the necessary avoidances. Below you will find our daily special comprised of very limited vegetation, grains, proteins, and other locally-sourced ingredients.

Harvester Creates a Feast For Your Family

Harvester is a restaurant experience unlike any other you'll find in Seattle. We have carefully curated our dishes to not only represent the local food available, but we prepare them in a way to give homage to the season in which they grow. Our farm, while small, packs big flavor. All vegetation on your plate or in your cocktail was sourced from our backyard. If you are interested in seeing the land where your lunch or dinner came from, please let us know and we would be happy to lead you through the garden before or after your meal.

Libations for All Occasions

Whether you are looking to celebrate an engagement, grab some drinks after work, or only looking to imbibe with some fun new spirits, the bar at Harvester has you covered. From classic cocktails such as Old Fashions, Hemingway Daiquiris, and Gin Gimlets to contemporary and innovative creations using available ingredients for syrups and freshly squeezed juices with spirits from Seattle as the focus. We also carry an extensive wine list from vineyards all over the world and community beers from breweries throughout the city.
